

EXHIBIT A

TO PLAINTIFFS' P.R. 4-5(c)
REPLY BRIEF REGARDING CLAIM CONSTRUCTION

Claim Element	Google Original Construction	Google Revised Construction
“the user can request viewpoint motion and point of interest motion independently”	A user can request viewpoint and point of interest motion separately through different user input devices	The user can request viewpoint and point of interest motion separately and simultaneously
“user input means for providing signals”	Structure: any two of a computer keyboard or its equivalent, a computer mouse or its equivalent, or a VPL glove or its equivalent Function: providing signals	Structure: one or more user input devices that provide separate signals based on actions of a user, such as a keyboard, a mouse, or a multidimensional input device such as a VPL glove or other input device and each of their equivalents Function: providing signals requesting viewpoint motion and point of interest motion
“motion requesting signal set”	A group of commands indicating a point of interest and requesting viewpoint motion relative to the indicated point of interest	A group of commands indicating a point of interest motion and a viewpoint motion relative to the point of interest